We begin the day with a coach ride to the Pico do Arieiro, Madeira's second-highest mountain before descending to Ribeiro Frio for a short walk to an outstanding lookout point. From here, we can admire the Pico do Arieiro once more or take a stroll around this small town. After lunch we continue to Santana, home to a

USEFUL HOLIDAY INFORMATION

Holiday Information

In the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, off the west coast of Africa, Madeira is a magical volcanic island with rugged mountains draped in lush colourful vegetation and crammed with bright flowers. Just 35 miles long and 13 miles wide, this unique tropical gem offers diverse landscapes and much to explore, making this a truly 'must-see' destination.

Over its fascinating history, Madeira has attracted merchants, explorers and pirates. Christopher Columbus married the first Governor's granddaughter in the 15th century when the Portuguese settlers arrived. The island has a wealthy history of sugar cane plantations, although sugar cane is no longer the main crop. This has been replaced with vines that produce the famous Madeira wine. This beautiful island rising from the ocean with steep cliffs and high mountains was once believed to be the lost civilisation of Atlantis.

Funchal is the island's capital and main port. White houses and distinctive tiled roofs flow down to the harbour, favoured by cruise ships. Reflecting its wealth and history, the capital now makes a great destination for shopping and sightseeing. The old town has narrow, cobbled streets and restored fishermen's houses. The market, built in 1937, has two storeys and is vibrant and colourful, thanks to the wares of its famous flower sellers. At the seafront, a modern cable car station takes passengers to the hilltop town of Monte. This is where the wealthy merchants of Funchal lived to enjoy the cooler air and is well known as the start of the famous wooden toboggan ride down the cobbled streets.

Madeira enjoys an all-year-round mild climate and has been an exclusive holiday destination for the British for the best part of a century. Until the latter half of the 20th century it was only reached by boat or flying boat. The building of the airport and its more recent expansion has opened Madeira up to more and more holidaymakers, but the island has managed to maintain its character and charm. Rainfall is principally, but not exclusively, in the high mountains of the interior. For centuries this valuable water resource has been transported to the drier coastal areas along man-made water courses, the famous "levadas". This means that there are no dry and arid areas typical of other volcanic islands in this area of the Atlantic. It also means that the island has a remarkable and exotic flora at all seasons of the year.

What To Bring

To enjoy your holiday comfortably and safely, it's essential that your clothing and footwear is suitable for the conditions likely to be encountered. Changeable weather is possible throughout the year, so our advice is to come prepared for all eventualities – hot, cold, wet or dry.

All of our Discovery Tours involve active sightseeing and you should therefore be prepared for walking between the sights and wear flat, comfortable shoes. In the evening most guests wear casual clothing. You will probably find a small rucksack or cross-body bag useful for carrying spare clothing, camera, sun protection, drinks (at least 2 litres) etc during the day. A money belt is always a good idea.

You'll also need to bring your:

- Booking confirmation
- Travel insurance cover note and contact details
- European Health Insurance Card (if applicable)
- Completed guest registration form
- Photocopy of photo page of passport
- Sunhat, sun cream and sunglasses
- Medication: If you require any medication, please take adequate supplies for the duration of your holiday. It's advisable to carry your medication in your hand luggage instead of packing it in your suitcase
