HOLIDAY OVERVIEW

The Coleridge Way leads you through the Somerset landscapes that helped inspire one of Britain's most celebrated poets, Samuel Taylor Coleridge. An avid walker, Coleridge frequently journeyed between his home in Nether Stowey and the fishing village of Lynmouth and this much-loved trail follows some of the very same paths the wordsmith would have taken in the late 18th century. Exploring sweeps of open moorland, heather-clad hills, historic villages, and wooded valleys with panoramic views over the Exmoor coast, we'll discover places that inspired the poet to pen famous works including The Rime of the Ancient Mariner and the epic ballad, Kubla Khan.

ITINERARY - GUIDED TRAIL

Day 1 Arrival Day

Check-in at the hotel is available from 16:00. If you are a member you can arrive at the house from 14:00. Enjoy a complimentary cream tea at 16:30 and meet other guests.

Day 2 Valley of Rocks to Malmsmead

Distance: 9 miles (14.5km)

Ascent: 2,400 feet (740m)

We start the day at Poets Corner in The Valley of Rocks, a fascinating, rocky valley known for its wild goats and stunning landscape. It's easy to see why it was named 'Little Switzerland' by Robert Southey, a friend of Coleridge. Descending into Lynmouth, where Samuel Taylor Coleridge was a frequent visitor, we reach the true start of the Coleridge Way. From the harbour, we follow the banks of the East Lyn river on an undulating woodland path to Watersmeet, a former fishing lodge now owned by National Trust and open as a tea room. We continue through woods alongside the East Lyn emerging at Brendon. From here, the path rises above the river valley with extensive views across Lorna Doone country to reach Malmsmead.

Day 3 Malmsmead to Porlock Village

Distance: 9 miles (14.5km)

Ascent: 1,650 feet (500m)

From Malmsmead we rejoin the Coleridge Way descending to join the riverside path to Oare, where we have an option to visit Oare Church, made famous in R D Blackmore's book Lorna Doone. We then steeply ascend the ridge of Deddy Combe where we're rewarded with views of Exmoor including the Doone Valley, one of Exmoor's hidden treasures. We now head towards the Somerset coastline, on hedged tracks and lanes with glimpses of the Bristol Channel. We head past Ash Farm where Coleridge was inspired to write Kubla Khan and finally descend through Worthy Wood to the village of Porlock with its grade I listed 13thc church dedicated to St Dubricius.

Day 4 Porlock Village to Wheddon Cross

Distance: 8.5 miles (13.5km)

Ascent: 2,210 feet (675m)

Departing Porlock, there's a steep ascent that flattens out as we reach the lanes and tracks that lead to Horner, an attractive hamlet of thatched cottages. Heading uphill through woodland takes us to the lookout at Webber's Post. After enjoying the views over Horner Wood and up to Dunkery Beacon (the highest point on Exmoor) we skirt around the base of Dunkery Hill to reach the River Avill. Once across the river, we follow wooded paths to the village of Wheddon Cross where there's an aptly-named pub called Rest and be Thankful (so-called because of its hilltop location at the end of a very long climb from the coast at Dunster and Minehead).

Day 5 Wheddon Cross to Roadwater

Distance: 9 miles (14.5km)

Ascent: 950 feet (295m)

From Wheddon Cross, we'll visit the 13th century Cutcombe Church with its stained-glass window depicting a line from Coleridge's poem Frost at Midnight. Following an ancient sunken lane and footpaths, we cross fields to ascend Lype Hill – the highest point of the Coleridge Way. From here, we're rewarded with far-reaching views over the Brendon Hills. We'll then descend to the hamlet of Kingsbridge and take a route that rises and falls to reach our finish point for the day, the village of Roadwater. Perched on the Washford River, it served as one of the stations on the Old Mineral Line that brought iron ore from the Brendon Hills to Watchet, ready to be shipped to Wales for processing.

Day 6 Roadwater to Bicknoller

Distance: 9.5 miles (15km)

Ascent: 1,300 feet (400m)

From Roadwater, the path climbs gently through fields and woodland to follow a level track above the Washford River and the route of the Old Mineral Line. We'll follow old lanes into Monksilver and continue to the village of Sampford Brett - birthplace of Richard le Breton, one of the four knights who murdered Thomas Becket in 1170. Crossing the West Somerset Steam Railway line and the A358 to Bicknoller, we'll pass by its 12th century church full of interesting features. Keep an eye out for the ornately carved angels and nightmarish animal heads.

Day 7 Bicknoller to Nether Stowey

Distance: 10 miles (16km)

Ascent: 1,740 feet (530m)

On our final day, the route winds around the lower slopes of the Quantock Hills – one of Coleridge's favourite places to roam. Ascending from Bicknoller, we join a woodland path with a brief section of road and walk into West Quantoxhead. It's then onto a grassy track that weaves through the woods before descending to Alfoxton House – the one-time home of William Wordsworth. Continuing to Holford, we'll head up and over heathland to Woodlands Hill and down to Dowsborough where an Iron Age hill fort once stood. Lanes and paths lead us past the remains of Stowey Castle to our final destination - Nether Stowey. The village has an interesting collection of old houses crowded along its narrow streets, including the National Trust-owned, Coleridge Cottage - the former home of Samuel Taylor Coleridge himself and a fitting end to our journey.

Day 8 Departure Day

Enjoy a leisurely breakfast before making your way home.

Then & now

Mentioned in the Domesday Book of 1086, there have been at least four successive houses of varying sizes built at the manor of Holnicote over a 500-year period. Until the 20th century, it was owned by the Acland family who saw it though a few fires, rebuilds, and restorations during their almost 200-year occupancy. They built the present Holnicote House in 1861 and it remained in the family thereafter (minus its thatched roof that was destroyed by yet another fire in 1941 and replaced with tiles from another estate building). In 1944, Sir Richard Acland, 15th Baronet, and his wife, Lady Ann, donated the entire Holnicote Estate (along with Killerton, their Devon ancestral home) to the National Trust in a bid to keep them 'safe and unspoiled for all time'. The combined value of both estates was estimated at £250,000, making this the largest single acquisition in the organisation's history.

Used as a nursery and nursery nurse training school during the 1940s, Holnicote House has been part of our HF Holidays line-up since 1952. Set right at the heart of the Holnicote Estate – a 12,500-acre landscape of heather-covered moorland, ancient woodland, and rocky coastline – it comes with 150 miles of footpaths and bridleways and plenty of sublime grounds which offer free rein to wander. You'll find 32 well-appointed guest rooms in three categories (Classic, Premium, and Superior), two comfortable lounges, peaceful gardens, a croquet lawn, books and games to borrow during your stay, plus a handy boot and drying room. There's also a Discovery Point offering a wide range of local area maps, route guides, and easy-to-follow information for self-guided walks. Equally worthy of your attention is the licensed bar and the dining room for a wide range of dishes made with fresh and seasonal ingredients.

Check-In & Check-Out

You are welcome to check in from 4pm at the earliest. HF Members can check in earlier, from 2pm. On arrival, you'll enjoy a complimentary cream tea and get to meet your fellow guests, our HF Holidays Leaders, and the rest of the friendly team. Check out 10am.

Helping you enjoy the Great Outdoors - A natural focus on walks

Walks talks and Discovery Points
Our founder, country pastor turned social innovator, Thomas Arthur Leonard, was passionate about encouraging people to explore the countryside. His legacy continues in HF's continued focus on walking. Many guests choose to travel with us on guided or self-guided walking holidays, and as such, evenings at our houses are often busy with walk leaders hosting various briefings and talks. On guided walking holiday arrival days, there are walking information briefings before dinner, and for the duration of any guided walking holiday there will be a Walks Talk before (or on occasion after dinner), to go through the following day's walk options. Self-guided walking guests, and those on special interest holidays (where there is free time to explore independently), are of course welcome to also join in these Walks Talks - please talk to the team locally if you have any queries. Our Discovery Points are filled with handy maps and route notes, designed to ensure everyone, not just those booked on a guided walking holiday, can enjoy the beautiful countryside settings that our HF houses enjoy.

The walking day
Prior to setting off on guided walks, our HF Holidays Leaders run through a short safety briefing. There's also an up-to-date weather forecast on display at the house to ensure walkers have appropriate clothing and footwear. If you choose to do your own walks or are on a self-guided walking holiday, we ask that you please complete an Independent Walker Card each day. These can be found near the Discovery Point in the house.
